Q.8 Recent changes in education mean that new schools can be set up by local groups of teachers, charities and groups of parents working with educational experts. These schools might provide extra places, help to raise standards, or offer greater choice. These schools are funded by Government, are free to attend, and are inspected by Ofsted.

Do you think parents in the local area would/ would you welcome the chance to have one of these schools in the area?

Q.8 Recent changes in education mean that new schools can be set up by local groups of teachers, charities and groups of parents working with educational experts. These schools might provide extra places, help to raise standards, or offer greater choice. These schools are funded by Government, are free to attend, and are inspected by Ofsted.

Do you think parents in the local area would/ would you welcome the chance to have one of these schools in the area?
