Q1. International Women In Engineering Day (INWED) statistics suggest that 16.5% of engineers are women. To what extent, if any, do you agree or disagree with the following statements:

Summary

Base: All respondents

	I am surprised that there are so many women in engineering	There should be more women engineers	Engineering is not a suitable workplace for women	Engineering and industry would benefit from a more proportional representation of women	School-aged girls should be encouraged to understand engineering and study subjects that enable a career in engineering	Promoting diversity of all kinds is beneficial to the workplace	It is not the job of educators, professional bodies, the government, or industrial organisations to promote engineering to women	A company's approach to diversity makes me more or less likely to buy their products, engage in their services or work for them	I would like to see and hear women engineers celebrated in the media more
